

An Undertaking Worthwhile Though Difficult

The respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited the Pyongyang Bag Factory as his first field guidance in Juche 106 (2017).

Officials and workers of the factory were moved to see him at their workplace when they launched into the first days of work in high spirits after hearing his New Year Address.

That day he said: I am very happy that we can provide our children and people with bags made by our hands with our raw and other materials in our factory; I think I cannot forget today when I have felt as if I had been to another world; it is not easy to produce not only school uniforms, notebooks, textbooks but also good-quality bags and supply them to children, but my heart is full of emotions as I had one more undertaking worthwhile though difficult had been performed; I feel happy as I picture in mind's eye faces of children laughing while going to and returning from school carrying those smart bags; we should make and give everything needed by our children; only then, they could cherish true patriotism of valuing things of our own; this is a valuable factory.

That day's field guidance was the road he walked with the lofty aim of implanting in the minds of the children the feeling of valuing the things of their country, trust in and attachment to things of their own country.
