

Everyone Should Graduate from “Paektusan University”

One winter day, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un looked round the revolutionary battle sites in the Mt. Paektu area.

After looking round the battle sites of the anti-Japanese armed struggle, he climbed Mt. Paektu.

Looking at the officials, who were immersed in a solemn emotion, he said that as he climbed the snow-covered mountain he felt a soaring urge to wage the revolution and struggle and make a fresh determination, adding:

This road we have traversed today is the curriculum of a revolutionary university for tempering the faith of a revolutionary. Anyone must climb Mt. Paektu to learn the ideology of Comrades Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il and the revolutionary ideas and indomitable revolutionary spirit of our Party.

Only then did the officials keenly realize why he liked to feel the blizzards and willingly made his way through the virgin snow whenever he climbed the mountain.

As he regarded the road to Mt. Paektu as the invaluable curriculum of a revolutionary university, he inspired all the people to visit the revolutionary battle sites in the Mt. Paektu area.

For the officials to thoroughly train themselves into steadfast and competent political activists who resembled Comrades Kim Il Sung and Kim Jong Il, they should be the first to visit the revolutionary battle sites in the Mt. Paektu area and graduate from “Paektusan University.”

The officials pictured in their mind’s eye those, who would go to “Paektusan University” flying high the red flag of the revolution, and the working people, the youth and the service personnel of the People’s Army, who would carry on the march to Mt. Paektu singing the song We Will Go to Mt. Paektu.
